“ Natalie-I am still just so sorry. I am thinking of you and Jenny and sending you both so much love. Praying for comfort and strength for the days ahead. Like I told you, I have such great memories of your mom from when we were younger. She was always so much fun and had such a wonderful personality. I see so much of her in you. I love you tons and am here for anything you need.
With deepest sympathy,
Tara Fasone

“ It was really a sad realization for me to learn recently of my first cousin Sally's passing. As children, my family and her family had special bonds, with both mothers having grown up really as orphans, being raised by their grandparents. This of course made a special bond between the two mothers and two families. We were all quite close, and visiting each others houses was always a treat and special time. We loved visiting their house, where there would always be a buffet of food on the stove top, and where we always were encouraged to help ourselves. We had a great time playing with Sally and Beverly, we loved dancing to soul music, and performing for our parents. We drifted apart as adult life came about, with me moving away to distant Durham, NC and then off to Washington State for 20 years, and with Sally marrying and having a family of her own. The special times we had together as children will always be cherished memories. Beverly, Natalie, Jenny, Danny and Ronnie, I am so sorry for your loss. May peace find you and may your memories comfort you.

“ I'm so sorry for your loss. Sally was a good friend to me in childhood. I moved away and we didn't remain close as adults, but I look back on times spent with Sally and immediate family with fondness and gratitude. My home life was chaotic, with alcoholic parents, and Sally and family were always so kind and provided a refuge from that. I remember Sally and I stayed up late one night and ate raw cookie dough (it did not agree with us). We also enjoyed staying up late and watching Johnny Carson with her mom, Frances. Harold and Frances always had Coke in the bottle which was a special treat ( just little things that can impress a child). And I can't begin to mention all "the big things" that meant so much to me from my friendship with Sally and the kindness shown. Praying for your family.
